Discover Thermopolis, Wyoming With the Gears

People of the Earth Days

June 25-28, 2015

W. Michael & Kathleen O'Neal Gear

About W. Michael Gear:

Michael has published twelve novels under his own name and authored another thirty-five with Kathleen. His work runs the gamut from historical, to prehistorical, to science fiction, to modern thrillers. All of his work deals with some aspect of anthropological theory. His MORNING RIVER was nominated for the Pulitzer prize in fiction, and the National Book Award in 1998.

About Kathleen O'Neal Gear:

Kathleen began writing full-time in 1986 and has over one hundred non-fiction publications in the fields of archaeology, history, writing, and buffalo conservation. She has authored nine novels under her own name, and co-authored thirty-five international bestsellers with her husband, W. Michael Gear. Their books have been translated into twenty-eight languages. She and Michael live on a buffalo ranch in the Owl Creek Mountains of northern Wyoming.

Over a billion years of geology are exposed in the Wind River Canyon between Thermopolis and Boysen Dam. A magnificent gorge reveals rock formations from the Precambrian to the Mesozoic Ages.

The Wyoming Dinosaur Center

Dinosaurs walked around Thermopolis between 65 and 145 million years ago during the Triassic, Jurassic and Cretaceous periods. Step through the doors of The Wyoming Dinosaur Center and you are transported into a world where rulers of the earth were not men but creatures. Tour of the dig site & museum.
